I thought [illegible] a just one, and that Henderson, as assignee, ought to be paid [illegible] had the impression that [illegible] for that [illegible] and think [illegible] to the War D[illegible] but I do not know. [illegible] was for [illegible] mules, as near as I can [illegible] which had [illegible] furnished upon a contract for a large number, and soon after that contract was made with the quartermaster, at either [illegible] or Indianapolis, he changed his way of [illegible] from the contract [illegible] and went into the [illegible] and [illegible] purchased at higher prices. [illegible] impossible for these parties to purchase [illegible] in the prices that they were to receive, or even [illegible] credit to carry the contract out. Ninety [illegible] had [illegible] received and no part paid on them; [illegible] thought under the circumstances it was not [illegible] to enforce the [illegible] contract as their [illegible] to comply was the result of a change in [illegible] of buying by the quartermaster. That is [illegible] I had of the case; and it was [illegible] equity that I thought it should be paid [illegible] further [illegible] of the case until a year or [illegible] when Henderson consulted one of [illegible] who advised him the claim ought [illegible] as I understand, upon the [illegible] that the government had not [illegible] according to the contract to [illegible] the [illegible] of the pay for mules [illegible] that had been furnished, and I think a brief [illegible] by him; but of that I am not positive. The Porte Remonstrated With.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Under Secretary Burke said several representations had been made to the Porte regarding the cruel and atrocious scenes in Bulgaria. The Porte has been informed that the recital of these deeds has created in English minds the greatest indignation and horror. I have reason to believe that these occurrences passed some little time ago, and that punishment is being inflicted by the Porte upon the perpetrators. British consul agents have been appointed at Philopolis with special instructions on the subject of these atrocities.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Reduction of Mail Service for Lack of Means.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—In consequence of the reduced appropriation for railway postal service there is great danger that the Sunday mail train between Chicago and Omaha will be discontinued, and that San Francisco will be thus deprived of any Eastern mail on Thursdays, and the Atlantic seaboard of any California mail each Wednesday. Sargent in order to save this service, which was procured by his influence about five years ago, moved an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill which the Senate adopted this session appropriating $200,000 expressly for its continuance. The conference committee, however, omitted this item, and department officials say they have no fund out of which to pay the extra allowance, and the railroad company declare they cannot afford to run on Sunday without it, especially as their compensation for the other six days service is reduced 10 per cent under the general provisions recently enacted by Congress applicable to all railway mail service. They therefore threatened to take off the train last week, but delayed action awaiting a final response from the Postmaster General as to his intentions concerning the matter. Sargent filed an earnest protest against the department allowing this service to be discontinued under any circumstances short of absolute inability to pay for it, but in view of the unquestionable fact that this year's appropriations for postal service are so small as to require extremely economical management and necessitating general reduction, the danger of losing this accommodation is great and imminent.

The department having ordered a reduction of $11,000 in the expenses of the San Francisco postoffice, Sargent to-day endeavored to have the order rescinded on the ground that the business of the office is constantly increasing and that any reduction would be mischievous. After arguing that the inadequacy of the appropriation makes this reduction unavoidable, the officials proposed to compromise on a reduction of $7,000. Sargent then insisted that such reduction was as much as the service can endure. The matter is still pending.

The Vancouver Water Co.'s Bill Passed.

The Senate to-day passed Kelly's bill authorizing the Vancouver Water Power Co. to lay water pipes through the Vancouver military reservation. Bills of this character, which do not involve any time, are the only ones that have been possible to bring up out of the regular order in the Senate for several months.

Sargent has been constantly watching for an opportunity to secure action on the Hawaiian treaty bill, but as every Senator believes it will lead to lengthy debate, no such opportunity has yet been possible to obtain.

The Legislative Bill Agreed to at Last.

The committees of conference on the legislative appropriation bill reached an agreement this evening which doubtless secures the final passage of the bill by both Houses next Thursday. The two points of controversy of serious character during the past few days have been as to the House reductions of salaries of Senators and Representatives to $4,500 per annum from the beginning of the current fiscal year, and of the President to $25,000 a year after the 4th of March next. All other matters in controversy were substantially arranged several days ago. The majority of the House conferees refuse to yield these two points. The Senate conferees wanted the House members to recede and sign a report of complete agreement without bringing the House and Senate respectively to vote on these two points of difference. Representatives Randall and Morrison absolutely refused to do so, and finally this evening the Senate conferees agreed to submit them for the action of the Senate and House to-morrow, and thence be bound by whatever their respective branches in Congress [illegible]. There is no doubt the Senate will insist that their conferees shall stand firm, but it is likely the House will authorize its conferees to recede, which they were not willing to do on their own responsibility. In this Randall and Morrison gave their point, which is to secure a vote in each House on these two subjects and make the Senate responsible for the failure of the proposed reduction. The other principal matters of controversy have been settled, as follows: The force of clerks in the executive departments is to be reduced by the discharge of 265 employes one-third on the 10th September, one-third October 10th and the other third November 10th proximo. The salaries of all [illegible] retained, who now receive not more than $1,800 per annum will be left untouched. The Senate conferees consent to the reduction of about 10 per cent. declared by the House to be made in the salaries of nearly all civil officers who now receive more than $1,600 per year. In view of the reduction of the regular clerical force, the Senate conferees ask the [illegible] tion of an item of $100,000 for temporary relief of the executive department, and the committee finally agreed on $60,000, the amount involved in the proposition for reducing the pay of $1,400, $1,600 and $1,800 clerks was 122,000 per annum. The total amount of reduction proposed by the House in this bill as compared with last year's appropriation, was $5,700,000.

The Senate conferees recede on items of disagreement amounting to $3,600,000, and the House managers yield on an aggregate of $2,100,000; $16,000 is therefore the amount of reduction provided for by bill as it will be reported to-morrow.

It is considered an agreement concerning the Indian bill will now be reached very promptly, and the House will probably recede from its proposition for the transfer of the Indian bureau to the War Department and add the $97,000 which was omitted in consequence of the proposed change.

Kilbourne Sues for $10,000 for False Imprisonment.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Hallett Kilbourne has begun suits against the Speaker of the House of Representatives and members of the real estate pool committee for false imprisonment.

P[illegible] ific Mail Steamer Bill P[illegible]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—In the House to-day Waddell called up the Senate bill allowing the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. to carry the mails on its new iron steamships. After some discussion as to whether the bill was sufficiently guarded as to exclude the idea of recognizing a claim for extra subsidy, the bill passed with an amendment striking out the words "except such as may lawfully exist under the law of February, 1865."

A Special Treasury Agent Contradicts Bluford Wilson.

W. B. Moore, special agent of United States Treasury, has published a letter addressed to the chairman of the sub-committee on whisky frauds, in which he says Bluford Wilson's derogatory testimony in relation to him is drawn from imagination; that he never left his post at Baltimore without authority; never stated he saw Gen. Babcock open a letter from Joyce; nor was he dismissed for leaving his post and going to St. Louis, as a witness in the whisky case.

Pension for Mrs. Yates.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—A bill was passed in the House to-day giving a pension of $30 per month to the widow of Capt. Yates, of the 7th Cavalry, killed in the recent fight.

Ex-Postmaster Gen. Creswell Censured.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The majority report of the postoffice committee severely censures Postmaster General Creswell, and declares the evidence suggests that the postoffice department during his administration was either in collusion with wrong doers, or that criminal negligence or gross incompetence existed. Jewell is censured for not remedying the evils of the preceding administration when discovered by him.

Nomination by the President.

The President yesterday nominated Chester Holcomb to be Secretary of Legation to China and interpreter.

The Congressional Dead Lock Broken.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—A Washington special to the Inter-Ocean says the dead lock is practically broken and an adjournment is at hand.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

During the morning hour a number of bills on the calendar and not objected to, among them were passed House bill to allow homestead settlers to make proof of the settlement before courts as well as before a receiver.

Upon reassembling, Edmunds from the judiciary reported with amendments the House joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the appropriation of money for the support of schools of any religious sect; placed on calendar. He gave notice he would call it up for consideration to-morrow morning.

Winslow from the conference committee on the legislative executive and judicial appropriation bill reported that the committee had been unable to agree and addressed the Senate at length as to the condition of bills stating that the committee had agreed on every point except as to the compensation of the President of the United States, and Representatives and Senators in Congress. He moved that a new conference be authorized and expressed the opinion that the committee would be able to agree finally.

The amendments of the House to the Senate bill to provide for the sale of the reservation of confederated Otoe and Missouri Indians in Kansas and Nebraska were agreed to and the bill passed.

After discussion the old conferees were reappointed, it being understood that their reappointment was expressive of the sense of the Senate that they should adhere to the position taken by them against the reduction of salaries of the President and Representatives.

Wallace then concluded his remarks on the Morton resolution and was responded to by Sherman, but before the latter concluded the Senate adjourned.

House.

The majority and minority reports of the postoffice committee on investigation into straw bids, etc., made by Clarke, of Missouri, chairman, and Cannon, were ordered printed and laid on the table.

Lynde, from the judiciary committee, made a report in the case of Irwin, Schumaker and King as connected with Pacific Mail subsidy, and Lord of New York, made a minority report; ordered printed in the record, with an intimation that they would soon be called up for discussion. The majority report recommends that the House leave the charges against members where they now are, in the court. The minority report signed by Lord, Lawrence, Hoar and Caulfield says the House has jurisdiction, and that the committee on civil service reforms should ascertain and report the facts.

McCrary signs an additional paper expressing the opinion that the House may properly take jurisdiction of the charge.

Springer desired to make the report of the committee on foreign affairs in the matter of the Venezuelan mixed commission; but it was excluded under the rule requiring 48 hours' notice to the minority.

The minority report was signed by Cameron, Miller and Howell. It states in conclusion that in it, as in the former investigation, the testimony furnishes a complete and satisfactory vindication of the department and its management since the inauguration of President Grant.

Vance, of Ohio, from the committee on printing, reported back with amendment Senate resolution for printing the report of the Mississippi investigation. The Senate resolution provides for 4,000 copies for its own use.

POLITICAL.

New York Democratic Convention.

SARATOGA, Aug. 8.—The Democratic State convention meets here August 30th.

The meeting of the Democratic State Committee this afternoon has given a Democratic complexion to Saratoga gossip. The feeling is quite unexpectedly antagonistic to Tilden. It seems clear he does not command the respect of some of the most prominent men of the party. One Democrat said he never saw anything like the chill that was given to the Tilden side of affairs to-day. The convention appeared to have come to bury Tilden not to praise him. Another Democrat asserted there had been a change of sentiment in his county in the last three weeks to Tilden's disadvantage. One Democrat expressed surprise at the absolute failure of Tilden's letter in private circles. The newspapers had made all the more of it.

For the governorship Clarkson Potter and R. H. Green were talked of with some force, and Manton Marble's chances lightly dwelt upon. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, and Horner Nelson, of Duchess county, are likely to have strong friends in the convention.

The Republicans are in favor of Dorsheimer's nomination. It is rumored in Democratic circles that Evarts has declined to be a candidate before the Republican convention unless Conkling approves the move beforehand, and thereby prevents factions. He is reported as saying that the party would probably unite on a governor. Republicans here give no credence to the story. Ex-Governor Hoffman arrived this evening.

The Times' Saratoga special says at the Democratic committee meeting much dissatisfaction was expressed because the headquarters of the committee were established at Albany, where the work would be done under Tilden's eyes. The general tone of the comments on the presidential prospects was decidedly lugubrious. It is abundantly evident that the old anti Tilden feeling is still rife and revengeful, and that those who opposed his nomination at St. Louis still think as they thought then—that he cannot carry his State. The editor of a leading Democratic paper, which nominally supports the ticket, said in my hearing that the Republicans would have 2,000 more than their usual majority in this county this fall, and that he knew what he was talking about. Evidences are abundant that the sham reformer is to be sold far more extensively than he is aware of. They are all anxious to secure the governorship and legislature, but I candidly believe that at least one-third of the Democrats in this State would as willingly see Tilden defeated as not.

Democratic Family Quarrel.

The Tribune's Saratoga special says: An opinion prevails here to-night in some quarters that the Democrats who have felicited themselves so much on what they call a Republican family quarrel, have one of their own on hand which will keep them busy until after the November election.

Thurlow Weed Interviewed on Politics.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A Tribune reporter interviewed Thurlow Weed, who said Evarts, Morgan or Fish, if nominated, would carry the State by a very large majority.

Hendricks Won't Talk.

Hendricks, who is in New York, in a brief conversation with a Tribune reporter, declined to give his views upon any of the political questions of the day. He referred, however, to the Democratic victory in Alabama, and inquired particularly in regard to the latest election news from that state. He said he thought it might be taken as a good omen of the way the South would vote next fall. The Governor said he was returning home by way of Philadelphia, where he intended to remain one day and make a short visit to the Exposition. He is accompanied by his wife and Hon. Wm. Henderson and wife.

Gen. Sigel for Tilden.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Gen. Franz Sigel has come out for Tilden.

Cong[illegible]ional Nominations.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Jas. H. Hopkins was nominated by the Democrats of the 22d district to day and Alex. Cochrane from the 23d.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 8.—The delegates to the Democratic State convention for to-morrow have arrived. Porter will probably be nominated on first ballot.

Ben. Butler Nominated for Congress.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—B. F. Butler, in accepting the nomination for Congress by the seventh district Republican convention, says he has not changed his views, but, the country having been committed in favor of resumption by legislative action, he believes it should be carried into effect as speedily as possible, and places himself squarely on the Republican platform.

The Herald on Watterson's Election.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Herald editorially says of the election to Congress from Louisville of Mr. Watterson—this result of over 14,000 votes to 500 for another was a tribute to a leading journalist, and it shows how much the people are able to believe an editor who serves them with honest and reliable news.

Blaine's Speech.

AUGUSTA, Me., Aug. 9.—Blaine, on making his appearance before the Third Congressional District Convention, was received most enthusiastically and spoke as follows: Gentlemen of the Convention—I came here to-day rather for the purpose of shaking hands with old friends and returning thanks for past kindness than with an intention of speech making. I congratulate you on the unanimity with which you have selected your candidates. It has been many years since any contest has marred the harmony or impaired the efficiency of the Republicans of this district, and I rejoice that this good feeling is to be preserved and perpetuated. Since the election of Lincoln no national contest has been more far reaching in its consequences than that now pending. The Democratic party represent and embody all that there is in this country of disloyalty and repudiation. I do not say that every Democrat is disloyal or a repudiater; but it is patent to the most careless observer that the converse of the proposition is true. Tilden has the reputation among his political friends in New York of being a wary, not to say wiry, political manager. He has the reputation of the possession of large wealth, and of being ready to use it to promote political ends. It is said he has marked the State of Maine as a good field for the investment of his political funds, with the hope of reducing our majority in September. Certain well known Democrats are now in the itinerancy in this State, who are said to be a part of the mobilized army of Tilden. Watch them and follow them and counteract them and let them know that the Republicans of Maine are not to be bought, but that it will require all Tilden's spare cash to keep his own troops in line and prevent many of them from passing over to the ranks of Republican loyalty and national good faith. Let me conclude by thanking you most heartily for the overwhelming and almost embarrassing cordiality of your reception, and by expressing the hope that if my health grows firmer I shall meet you again during these most important campaigns, and meet you with words of cheer and assurances of victory.

Blaine was frequently interrupted by storms of applause. Resolutions were then adopted and the following elicited unbounded applause: "Resolved, That the Republicans of the 3d district look back with pride and satisfaction to the long, eminent, and influential services of Hon. J. G. Blaine as their Representative in Congress; that they cordially tender him their continuous confidence and high regard in his new and important sphere of official duty, and they hereby tender him the united and hearty support of his old constituents for his election by the next legislature as U. S. Senator.

Hall, Hugh McCurdy, Jas. Beldredge, Albert Miller and Michael Finnegan. The resolutions reaffirm Democratic party principles, strict construction of the constitution; local self government; responsibility of officials; hostility to sumptuary laws; demand the removal from office of men who have been dishonored by corruption, and the restoration of honest government under Democratic rule; reaffirm the St. Louis platform and recognize in the nomination of Tilden and Hendricks the ticket for their universal support.

Failure of Heavy Stock Operators.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The community interested in stocks were astonished to-day by the failure of D. G. Scofield & Co., among the heaviest operators in the Pacific board. Attention was first called to the affair by the slaughtering of their stocks in the board, and inquiry soon disclosed the fact that the firm had failed for about $300,000, as near as can be estimated. Their check of $66,000 given to Berry, Wolfskill & Co. for 1,000 shares of California, was dishonored to-day, and it is understood many other members of the Pacific board suffer heavily by the failure. The stories about town this evening concerning Scofield & Co.'s failure are very conflicting as regards the amount of liabilities, which have been stated all the way from $90,000 to $700,000. From all information at present obtained, the truth would seem to lie midway, between those figures. The affair is spoken of by many as a very black transaction, it being alleged that whatever may have been the original source of the difficulties of the firm, their course latterly has been most unjustifiable and calculated to deeply involve those who have shown themselves disposed to accommodate them. Others are disposed to take a different view and hold out the prospect that settlements may be effected on a more favorable basis to all concerned than is claimed by many. It is rumored this evening that Scofield has jumped the town, but this is denied by his friends, who assert that he is at his rooms ill from excitement and distress of mind and in a state verging on insanity, from the catastrophe that has come upon him. While some apprehend disastrous consequences to the market, others are of the opinion that no serious result will follow.

Another Stock Firm Suspended.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—A rumor was on the street to-day that Harris & Hart, a prominent firm of stock brokers of the big board, had failed. Inquiry at the office of the firm elicited the information that they were involved by the difficulties of a heavy customer and as a measure of precaution had suspended business, pending settlement of affairs. They assert, however, that the matter will probably be satisfactorily adjusted shortly, and that they will suffer no permanent inconvenience. It was rumored that their trouble arose from the failure of Scofield & Co., but that is asserted to be an error. Scofield & Co.'s failure is supposed to have had all the effect on the market yesterday that it is likely to exert. Those who were bitten by them are quite reticent to-day, but state that in the course of the day they will be able to ascertain how matters really stand, as to which they profess at present to be in the dark. They also throw out the intimation that something may be saved from the wreck and a better face be put on the affair. There are rumors on the streets to-day involving the condition of other prominent stock broking firms, but as yet they are not authenticated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—The third Congressional district delegation this evening nominated Thomas McKenna, of Solano, for Congress. The delegates from the fourth district will nominate to-morrow morning.

The convention assembled at 8 P. M. D. M. Kinfield was nominated for State controller.

Electors from Congressional districts were nominated as follows: 1st district, D. A. McKenley, alternate O. F. Von Rhine; 2d, John P. Felton (Alameda), alternate Geo. C. Blanchard (Eldorado); 3d, John H. Jewett, alternate Jerome Banks (Tehama); 4th, H. J. Ostrander (Merced), alternate D. C. Reed (San Diego); electors at large, John F. Miller and M. M. Eston; alternates, Paul Neumann and J. M. McShafter (San Francisco). The State central committee was then chosen, after which the report of the committee on resolutions was read and adopted. A vote of thanks was tendered M. D. Boruck, chairman State central committee. A letter was read from Horace Davis, accepting the nomination for Congress; and after a speech from Tom Fitch the convention adjourned with three cheers for Hayes and Wheeler.

Republican State Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—A canvas of delegates to the Republican convention to-morrow makes it appear that Horace Davis will be nominated for Congress from the first district, Page renominated from the second district, and Pacheco put up in the fourth. The third district is close between DeHaven, of Humboldt, and McKenna, of Solano. To contest the office of State controller against the present occupant, W. B. C. Brown, the only name so far mentioned is that of D. M. Kenfield, of Sonora. Mr. Kenfield, if nominated, promises to take the question of the right of Mr. Brown into the courts, and test the constitutionality of the act of the last legislature which undertakes to confer the office upon Mr. Brown for the term for which the late J. W. Mandeville was elected.

Nominations by the Anti-Piper Democracy.

The anti-Piper wing of the Democracy met to-day and made a nomination for Congressman for this district in opposition to Piper, present incumbent. After the usual amount of by-play a vote was taken, which resulted in 21 votes for Horace Davis and 7 for John S. Hager. Davis is a Republican, and the favorite candidate for nomination by the Republicans of this district to-morrow, and it is believed that this action by the Democrats will ensure his nomination as their strongest candidate. The convention also nominated W. B. C. Brown as candidate for State Controller, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mandeville. Resolutions were adopted deprecating the use of coin to influence nominations and elections and calling upon all Democrats to join them in efforts to purify the ballot box.

Handsome Reception to Gen. McDowell.

Gen. McDowell, who arrived this evening to take command of the military division of the Pacific, was accorded a handsome reception by the citizen soldiers, who turned out with full ranks and escorted him to the Palace hotel, where an informal reception was held.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

The Mechanics' Institute fair opened at the pavilion this evening to a good attendance, but preparations are still very incomplete, and the exhibition will hardly be in good running order before the end of the week.

Fires.

About 2 o'clock this morning, a fire in the store of Lee Chung, Dupont street, destroyed good to the value of $6,000. An employe of the store was severely burned while endeavoring to save goods.

At 4:30 A. M., Bothen's spice manufactory, on First street, near Market, caught fire and the stock was damaged to the amount of $1,000, and the building $600.

Smallpox.

The smallpox broke out afresh this morning, eleven cases being reported up to noon, five of whom were Chinamen. Two deaths occurred this morning at the pest-house. Two more cases and one death were reported yesterday. Last night a man named John Stoffer, just discharged from the Napa insane asylum, applied at the city prison for lodging, and this morning he was found suffering from a first-class case of smallpox and was summarily hustled out.

Held to Answer.

Morris Welch, late quartermaster of the steamer Ancon, who was arrested on the charge of recent larceny of gold bars on board that steamer, was to-day held to answer in the sum of $6,000. James A. Kennedy, in whose possession some of the bars were found, was held in the sum of $3,000.

Mining Assessments.

The Hale & Norcross yesterday levied an assessment of $1 per share, aggregating $112,000, delinquent September 12th. Amazon and Glasgow Cos. each levied an assessment yesterday of 15 cents per share, delinquent September 9th.

Another Suicide.

Thomas F. Korb, first officer of the steamer Newbern, running to Mexican ports, committed suicide in his state-room on board the vessel about half-past seven this morning by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver. No cause assigned for the act. He leaves a wife in this city.

Democratic Evening Paper Started in Oakland.

The Democratic central committee yesterday consummated some business arrangement with Laura DeForce Gordon and her partner whereby these parties are to bring down their printing material from Sacramento and establish a Democratic daily in Oakland.

Unjust Reports Corrected.

An investigation into the affairs of Schofield, the broker, whose failure is announced, shows that the stories of fraud and embezzlement have been exaggerated and his creditors are under the impression that every dollar of his indebtedness will be made good.

The Secret of a Case.

Abner Gentry, a gambler, entered suit against Geo. L. Jordan and Geo. W. Phelps to recover payment of a debt of $1,788, with interest thereon from the 13th of January, 1876. He also seeks to have a lien upon certain lands as security for the payment of the debt. This is the secret of the mysterious shooting affray which recently occurred in Robinson's law office between Gentry and Jordan, in which the latter was wounded but refused to make explanations or prefer charges.

A Man Accuses Himself of Arson.

Henry Farline gave himself into custody at the city prison to-day, and had a charge of arson entered against his name. He is his own accuser and says he burned down the barn of Geo. Doherty, contractor, on Bay and Jones streets, which was destroyed this afternoon. Doherty owed Farling money and would not pay him, and he burned the barn to get even.

Hayes and Wheeler Club Organized in San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 9.—The first Republican rally of the campaign was held last evening and was largely attended. A Hayes and Wheeler club, with 44 signers, was organized, Col. D. B. Bush, President, and Dr. L. S. Guan, Secretary.

NEVADA.

Suicide.

EUREKA, Aug. 8.—J. V. Hathaway, a prominent citizen of Belmont, committed suicide yesterday morning at an early hour by shooting himself through the head. Death ensued shortly after. The cause is thought to be temporary insanity.

THE SIOUX CAMPAIGN.

Gen. Merritt Joins Gen. Crook.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The Tribune's special from the Big Horn expedition on Goose creek, via Fort Fetterman, says General Merritt with his force joined Gen. Crook yesterday, and they are now ready for aggressive action. This united column has over 2,100 fighting men. Under the new organization Merritt is the ranking officer of cavalry, and Col. Chambers the corps of infantry. The entire column with pack train will move at once toward Tongue river, with its 300 pack mules, 100,000 rounds of ammunition, 25,000 rations and no forage. This is the slightest marching condition, and the men and horses are in the finest possible trim. Scouting parties have discovered large fresh trails of the Sioux leading toward the Lower Tongue and Powder rivers. It is believed the savages are in need of victuals, as picked carcasses of dogs are found around their camps. They have fired the prairies to ruin pasturage and render cavalry useless.

Gen. Terry has not been heard from for months. He is believed to have nearly 2,000 men.

Crook made a speech to his men yesterday, representing the necessity of each man doing his best.

Unfounded Rumor.

The Tribune's St. Paul special says the wild report which gained credit that Terry had met Sitting Bull and been worsted, could not be traced to any reliable source, but shows that the opinion is general that the Indians have the superior force.

The Tribune's Crook camp special says the White river agency Utes have not reached here yet, but are daily expected. They will be instructed to follow the troops. On the 30th July, twenty Utes from Minant, accompanied by a half dozen or more Snake volunteers, very unexpectedly arrived. The Indian allies will be under the command of Maj. Randall. The irregulars will be commanded by Col. Stanton, and Buffalo Bill will be in command of the Hunters himself. Every preparation for transporting the wounded has been made. Should the enemy break up, small parties are intended to follow them accordingly. How the Sioux succeed in living in the country is a mystery to every one. The weather is warm with very little rain. Grasshoppers are numerous.

No Peace Proposition Receivable from Sitting Bull.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. General Sherman says the proposition from the agency Indians, that a cessation of hostilities with Sitting Bull and his adherents shall be arranged in the interest of peace, is altogether out of the question for several [illegible]. The Indian tribe with which the government is at war is not such a nation as to allow us to establish negotiations of any character, as no confidence can be placed in their promises; while another reason for not favoring the proposition of the [illegible] Indians at the agency is, that the request does not concern these tribes, and there is no ground for believing that they desire peace. Gen. Sheridan's views of the proposition have not been received at headquarters.

Indian Agents Protest Against Disarming Indians.

The government Indian policy of depriving the hostile Indians of ammunition meets with a general protest from the agents, who complain that their lives and property would be unsafe. Should they attempt this policy, the Indians will resist desperately and a general war ensue, for which the government is wholly unprepared. As this policy was decided in a conference between the President, Sherman and the Indian commissioner, they will use their judgment as to the time of the disarming process. The agent at Standing Rock has been removed and an auditor's clerk here appointed on the recommendation of the Archbishop of the Catholic church, who has spiritual charge of that agency.

"HIS HONOR" IN NEVADA.— * * * The Judge stood at the door of his court-room with his hands in his pockets and his felt hat drawn down over his eyes. He was chewing tobacco and spat gloomily. In answer to a sympathetic inquiry as to the cause of his evident depression, His Honor replied: "This is the d—dest town I ever see. I ain't taken in a cent since day afore yesterd'y. I wish I could git a job of some kind or 'nother." It appears that the court, until within a few years, was a mule driver in the mountains, and wearies occasionally of the monotony of civilization. "I never will be anythin' but a cussed fool," continued His Honor. "Last night I won $40 on the king an' seven, an' then I had to copper the jack an' git flat busted. Hullo, Mike, that case of yourn comes up at 4. The jury's all subpenaed, and don't you slip up on puttin' in an appearance." The gentleman thus addressed paused in his walk, said "all right," and jerked his thumb invitingly in the direction of a corner grocery. The court accepted, and was presently listening amiably over a glass of whisky to Mike's account of how he came to be involved in an assault and battery case.—S. F. Post.

The East Oregonian of last Saturday says: The storm which swept through Walla Walla valley last week did much damage in the northeastern portion of Umatilla county. There were many farmers, whose names we could not learn, who lost, some a portion and others whole fields of grain. T. K. McCoy lost an entire field of 70 acres of oats; the day after the storm he put mowers into the field to cut the straw for hay. Usually Mr. McCoy has a large surplus of oats for sale, but this year will not have enough for his own use.

The Mountain Sentinel is authority for the statement that a large number of the citizens of Union contemplate visiting the Wallowa valley about the 15th inst. for the purpose of enjoying a fishing and hunting excursion of about two weeks' duration.

The Coos county Record says that Mr. Hadley, of the Marshfield Hotel, on Friday of last week killed a large bear, the first animal of the kind he ever saw in a wild state. Only a few days ago he slaughtered a deer, and we expect soon to see him come into town with an elk on his back.

Peoria is a thriving little village situated on the Willamette, fifteen miles above Albany, consisting of thirteen families, one [illegible] establishment, one blacksmith shop, and [illegible] doctor's office, all in running order. Mr. Rooke, of Coos river, has been experimenting in the use of coal oil as a remedy for the worms that are destroying crops of every kind in that part of the country, and reports that it puts a stop to their work. His mode of applying it is by sprinkling it upon the vegetation.

The Albany Democrat says the town of Scio contains about 600 people, with [illegible], having large, roomy yards, good walks, well-shaded, smooth streets, commodious stores and shops. The town, de[illegible] city, for it is incorporated, is pleasantly located on the Santiam, at its junction with Thomas creek, a rapid flowing mountain stream, and in the midst of as fine a farming country as ever laid out of doors.

The Coos county Record says: There are several men of intelligence and influence in this county who have acted with the Democratic party that will support Hayes and Wheeler. Tilden's former [illegible] were so much worse than anything that has been disclosed at Washington that they fear it would be making a bad matter worse to elect him to the office of President. Hayes is given universal credit for straight-forward integrity and honesty of purpose.

The Mountain Sentinel of last Saturday says: "H. Laughary, a wide-awake Cove farmer, layed on our table during the week seventeen heads of club wheat that weighed two ounces. Mr. Laughary has sown eighty acres of wheat and twenty of [illegible], which he thinks is pretty fair for one man. His wheat will probably average forty-five or fifty bushels to the acre. He will bring us a sample in a few days which we propose to send to Mr. Dufur, Oregon's energetic agent at the Centennial."

The Salem Mercury says that E. F. Colby, whose dairy is situated in the Waldo Hills, about 12 miles east of that city, has manufactured the milk from 20 to 50 cows and within the past four months has put up about 12,000 pounds of excellent cheese. For this cheese he readily obtains 16 cents per pound, which, for the amount manufactured in four months, will bring him in the snug sum of $1,920. These facts and figures fully demonstrate that the manufacture of cheese can be made remunerative by giving it the proper care and attention.

The Albany Democrat of the 8th inst. says: "We have no data to get at the number of tons of hay that has been brought into the Albany market the past two weeks, but it is safe to say that the daily receipts during that time have been up to 100 tons. The erection of the mammoth hay and feed warehouse by Mr. Jason Wheeler has stimulated this branch of business, and several houses are buying hay and baling it for next winter's market. That there will be a good demand for the article at that time there can be no question. The June high water on the Columbia overflowed all the bottom hay land from Astoria to Umatilla, and Portland and adjacent towns will have to look up the valley this fall for their supply. Albany will be the 'Egypt' for that article this season."

The East Oregonian of the 8th says: "From Mr. Finch, of Pilot Rock, who was present when the accident occurred, we learn that Isaac Knotts met with an accident which resulted in the breaking of the large bone of the right leg. There was a party of men en route to Trail creek, among them Messrs. Finch and Knotts; in traveling over a trail on the side of a hill or mountain the horse Mr. Knotts was riding slipped and fell on his side, falling on Mr. K.'s right leg, breaking the same. The party stopped and improvised some splints, binding the leg with a buckskin, cut into strips, which enabled Mr. K. to bear the pains of the journey to the mines. On his arrival, a Chinese doctor was called (there being none other there); he examined the leg and cooly informed the patient that he would 'Set-ee the leg ee for three hundred dollar ee!' Disgusted, Mr. Knotts called on Mr. Finch, who set the leg the best he could and splinted it. At last accounts Mr. K. was doing well."

AN OLD-TIME GIRL.—We saw her on Fourth street yesterday. She wore a neatly fitting, plainly cut and modestly trimmed calico dress. Her modest face beamed with youth and beauty beneath the graceful folds of a gauzy green veil, and her rosy cheeks shone through it like a pair of large cherries. She didn't carry one-half of her dress in her hand high up to gratify the vulgar gaze of blackguards, or to draw forth ludicrous and ungentlemanly remarks of corner loafers. Nor was she pinned back so tight she couldn't step, and her heels didn't kick her tiller as high as the small of her back. She didn't walk like a mule with a loose set of harness on and flies bad. No; she wasn't dressed in a style calculated to attract the attention of any but true gentlemen, and of these she commanded the utmost respect, and it was paid her by all who, in meeting, admired her.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 10, 1876.

THE RIGHT OF CONGRESS TOUCHING STATE ELECTIONS.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 9, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I have read with some interest your article in this morning's issue concerning the right of the Senate to investigate the elections in the States, and it opens up a new subject to me. I am not inclined to dispute the correctness of the views you express, but I hesitate to accept them without further examination. Do you wish to be understood as denying the power in Congress to determine in any case whether the State elections have been fairly conducted or not?

REPUBLICAN.

With a slight qualification, we would be so understood. The qualification is that the National House of Representatives, being by the Constitution made the judge of the election and qualification of its own members may, with perfect propriety, investigate and inquire into the legality and fairness of the election of any member by the people. Whenever there is cause to believe a member of Congress has been returned by a fraudulent vote, it is competent for the House to institute inquiry into the facts of the case, and if the fraud is proved, to deny the member so returned a seat in that body. But it is not competent for Congress to deny a seat to a member fairly elected because there was fraud in the election of another member from the same State, which it might do under Mr. Boutwell's proposition. It is also competent for the Senate to ascertain whether any person claiming a seat therein, to investigate the methods and means by which he was chosen by the legislature of his State as a member of the Senate, and if fraud or corruption are found to have been used, to deny the applicant his seat. But there is no authority in the Constitution to push the investigation to the length of making the United States Senate the judge of the election and qualification of members of the State legislature as Mr. Boutwell would make it. That power belongs by necessity and by the constitutions of the States, which have been approved by Congress, to the State legislatures themselves, and there is no power [illegible] anywhere to revise the decisions of the legislatures on that point. Of course, it is not intended to dispute the right of the Senate to ascertain whether a person claiming to have been elected a member thereof, was in fact elected by a body assembled under the constitution of the State with the form of regularity, or by an irresponsible and revolutionary rabble assembled in open defiance of the constitution of the State, and styling itself a legislature. But whenever the Senate shall [illegible] this limit of its constitutional [illegible], and assume to decide upon the regularity of the election of particular members of the State legislature, who have been admitted into that body in accordance with the forms of the State government, it assumes an authority the exercise of which is itself subversive of the fundamental principles of the government and essentially revolutionary. If it is already demonstrated that our complex system of State and national government is a failure, perhaps Mr. Boutwell's plan is as well calculated to carry us over into an imperial form of republicanism, without the friction and convulsion that usually attend radical revolutions in the government of populous and wealthy states, but for our own part we are not prepared yet to abandon the experiment of the form of government given us by the fathers of the Republic. That government has proved equal to some very severe tests, and deserves better at the hands of the people to whom it has thus far given the blessings of the largest liberty and prosperity with a reasonable degree of peace and good order, than to be sacrificed to the prejudices or wrecked on the visionary theories of any man or party.

WHY THE WEST DISLIKES TILDEN.

Frequent mention has been made of Mr. Tilden's unpopularity in the West, but the particular circumstances out of which it arises are not very generally known. The Chicago correspondent of the New York Times, under date of July 28th, proceeds to relate the history of Mr. Tilden's connection with railway matters in that part of the country, attributing the general antipathy of the people toward him to the part he has taken in those matters. Says the correspondent:

> However it may affect him in the East, it is certain that Mr. Tilden is being seriously damaged all through the West by the revelations concerning his connection with the so-called "organization" of railroads. It has come to be believed that he is the parent of what is known as the Credit Mobilier system of building railroads. The Western States have had a costly experience with this species of fraud. There is scarcely a county, town, city, or village in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa that is not now, or has not been, loaded with debt on account of subscriptions to railroads which were swallowed up by the Credit Mobilier plan. The counties and towns of Illinois alone owe something like fifteen millions of dollars on this account. The mode of proceeding is familiar. A line of railroad being projected, the State first, then the counties and towns through which it was to pass, and the property owners who might derive benefits were solicited to subscribe funds. Then the franchise and property of the road would be mortgaged for enough to build it, and the projectors would invest the subscriptions they received in the first mortgage bonds. They would organize themselves into a construction company and pay back the money to themselves for building the road. Before its completion the money would run out and the road would default on its interest. Then would come the work of "reorganization," by which process the subscriptions and stock would be wiped out and the property pass into the hands of the first mortgage bondholders, who were also the projectors and builders. The net result would be that the projectors would get pay for the road in the first place, and then get the road itself, while the states, counties, towns, and private persons who subscribed the funds were left to whistle for them. There is said to be abundant evidence that Samuel J. Tilden, using his party influence to shape the New York legislation to carry out these schemes (all contracts being made in New York) was the suggestive genius of most of the schemes, the regular attorney for various Credit Mobilier organizations, and had a large share in the profits. This is the way it is believed in which he has been able to accumulate his millions in a profession which yields better lawyers with a larger practice a bare competency. It is natural that the Western people who have suffered so severely from these practices should feel resentful toward a man who is supposed to have made an unreasonable fortune out of railroad manipulations at their cost, and who now asks their votes for the chief office in the nation. The Republican losses in Illinois and Wisconsin since 1872 have been mainly owing to the dissatisfaction of the farmers with the railroad abuses. The Republican party was blamed for them as the party in power is always held responsible for every condition of things that excites popular antagonism, but this popular antagonism throughout the West will be transferred to the Democratic party with Mr. Tilden as its standard-bearer, and as the most conspicuous representative and most efficient coworker in the Credit Mobilier schemes whereby most of the railroads of the Northwest were constructed, and the people defrauded of the money which they subscribed to that end.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE GREAT SOUTH—A Record of Journeys in the Southern states, by Edward King. Illustrated by J. W. Champney.

This book is the result of a year's journey through the South, undertaken by Mr. King at the instance of the publishers of Scribner's Monthly. Much perhaps, most of the matter contained in this volume was published in Scribner, and, we may say, formed the most attractive and readable part of the numbers in which it appeared. The spirit in which the writer entered upon his work was scarcely less admirable than the manner in which he has performed it. A faithful, yet kindly portrayal of the characteristics of the Southern people is presented, accompanied by an accurate statement of the wealth, commerce and resources of each State. The book is elegantly illustrated by pictures of much more than ordinary merit, showing places and scenes of interest and sketching with remarkable humor many of the people, both white and black, noticed by the author. We believe that no better work on the South has yet appeared, and its perusal cannot fail to impart valuable information as well as furnish agreeable entertainment. It may be purchased of Mr. Davies, at Messrs. C. Hirstel & Co.'s book store, in this city.

The Republicans of North Carolina have been making a canvass of that State by Congressional districts, and have come to the conclusion that they will be able to carry the State by a majority of about 3,000, on a fair vote. This is figuring it pretty closely, in a State containing so large a population, but those who present these figures say they have made all allowances, and that the result of the election is more likely to be a larger than a smaller majority than that which they now claim. They claim also that the Republicans will elect their candidate for governor by about the same vote as that which Hayes and Wheeler will receive.

Complaint is made through the New York Times of fraudulent management by the ring Republicans in some of the county conventions of that State, the object being to send ring delegates to the Saratoga convention in the interest of Mr. Cornell for Governor. It is asserted by the writer in the Times that the nomination of Mr. Cornell would cause so much dissatisfaction as to jeopard the election both for Governor and for President. The better class of Republicans would be satisfied with the nomination of some such man as ex-Governor Morgan, Geo. Wm. Curtis or Mr. Evarts, but it is believed they will not support Cornell with any degree of unanimity.

Hendricks got away with Tilden in the Saratoga race the other day. Hendricks is not fast, but he appears to possess excellent staying qualities.

UMATILLA COUNTY LETTER.

CROPS IN EASTERN OREGON—DIPHTHERIA—FELICITY AND INFELICITY—ALMOST A TRAGEDY—A FAMILY BURNED OUT OF HOUSE AND HOME.

THE MEADOWS, UMATILLA, Aug. 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The threshers have just started up. The yield of grain will not be above an average. The hay crop was excellent; Mr. Coffman has ricked up eighty tons of timothy from this year's cutting. The corn crop is good. Watermelons are assuming tempting proportions. Peach orchards are bending beneath their weight of ripening fruits.

Diphtheria has been having a run on The Meadows. But two deaths have occurred among the little folks as yet from its ravages.

A young man by the name of Ad. C. (for short) and a Miss Roxie R. (for brevity) were married at LaGrande recently. They came down to The Meadows to keep house for a weathy farmer of 60, whose consort is not, and whose children are all gone away. The young couple had not been in their new home a fortnight ere the husband became jealous of the old gentleman of 60. Mr. Ad. C. is now among his sympathizing friends, and she, the said Roxa, is off to the mountains on a rodeer (a cattle hunt), and the farmer of 60 is expected home every day with a wife.

A few days since there came near being a tragedy at the Twelve Mile House on the Umatilla. One Bill Johnson was in the employ of the stage company at this place and had been for some time. For some irregularity he was discharged, and another Irishman substituted. Smarting under his fancied disgrace he armed himself, first with bad whisky and after, with a rifle, and sought to avenge himself upon his rival. The ball passed between the arm (a few inches below the shoulder) and the body of said rival, doing more damage to clothing than flesh. Johnson's whereabouts is unknown to Sheriff Sargent.

W. Griffith, son-in-law of the Rev. Silas Stout, late of Benton county, had the great misfortune to lose his house and its entire contents by fire last evening. It is not known how the fire originated. He and his wife were absent at the time, assisting a neighbor with his threshing. Nothing was saved from the hungry flames, except a mattress, two pairs of blankets and the clothes the family had on at the time. The people of the frontier are ever charitable, and Mr. G.'s loss will be partly, if not entirely reimbursed.

J. J. B.

THE JEWISH ANCESTORS OF THE PORTUGUESE KINGS.

[From the Jewish Chronicle.]

The following historical anecdote may not prove uninteresting at the present time, when we have just received a visit from the Emperor of Brazil, and it may account for the interest he takes in Jewish affairs:

It is well known that the Jews of Spain and Portugal were a highly intelligent race, and that they rose to great honors in the Peninsula, both under Christian and Mohammedan rulers, but after the final overthrow of the Caliphs, the Catholic sovereigns no longer requiring Jewish assistance, relentlessly persecuted the Hebrews, and eventually expelled them. During these persecutions many Israelites left or pretended to leave the religion of their fathers, and were known as "New Christians." These New Christians married freely with the highest nobility, and to-day there are but few Spanish or Portuguese families in the highest circles but what have a mixture of Jewish blood.

A certain King of Portugal, becoming alarmed at the power wielded by individuals of Jewish decent, issued a decree that every person with Jewish blood in his or her veins should appear at court distinguished by a white badge, the King hoping by this edict to banish all such persons from his court, as he believed no one would be willing to acknowledge his Jewish blood. On the day named he was surprised to see more than three-fourths of his court wearing the white badge, and he was astonished when the Prime Minister entered himself wearing in a conspicuous manner the same emblem. He asked him furiously what his business was. His answer was: "I have come to carry out your Majesty's orders. Here are two white badges (at the same time producing them), one is for her Royal Majesty, your august spouse." "And for whom is the other?" thundered the King. The reply was, "For your Royal Majesty!"

It is needless to say that the edict was immediately recalled. If this anecdote be true (and there is no reason to doubt it) the Emperor of Brazil, who is a lineal descendant and true representative of the Kings of Portugal, must have a large quantity of Jewish blood in his veins.

FROM THE BLACK HILLS.—Doc. Harding, of Radersburg, on a business visit here last week, was interviewed by a Herald reporter Saturday, in reference to late Black Hills news said to have been received by him. The Doc. stated that he had a letter from John Hildebrand, dated at Deadwood, June 24, in which the prospects of the writer were cheerfully dwelt upon. John thought he had a promising claim in the gulch, and was employing nine men. With the week's clean-up he reported himself $400 "ahead of the country." Hundreds of miners, pilgrims, and others, he states, are in the Hills, unable to obtain property or even work. Efforts were then making to form a prospecting party, 1,000 strong, armed and equipped for the undertaking, to go into the Big Horn and Wind river countries, and give those regions a thorough inspection. It was believed extensive and paying mines would be discovered in the sections named. It is evident that the time approaches when a strong column of adventurous men, disappointed in their expectations and ventures, will move in organized shape out of the Black Hills and into the reputed but comparatively unexplored gold sections of Eastern Montana. The Hills, according to the best authorities, are already overrun, with not one in a score basking in the smiles of fickle fortune. We look for Montana to regain, before the year ends, more than she has lost by the irrational excitement growing out of the gold discoveries in the Black Hills.—Helena Herald, July 27.

OBITUARY NOTICE.

Died suddenly at Santa Barbara, Cal., July 21st, George H. Spencer, of hemorrhage of the Lungs, aged about forty-six years.

Mr. Spencer was a native of England and many years ago came to America, and not long after to California, then soon to Oregon, and finally to Forest Grove. He manifested much strength of character and firmness of moral principle when he first came into this community, though not then a professing Christian, and gained general favor with the people. After he became a Christian these qualities became more distinctly marked, and though not a ready talker, he was a ready supporter of every good thing and every Christian work—in short he was loyal, enthusiastically so, down to the bottom of his soul, to his adopted country, and loyal to God.

On account of failing health, some nine years since, he left Forest Grove for California, where he has since been, the latter part of the time at Santa Barbara.

As we have heard from time to time, though feeble in body from the disease fast hold of his vitals, his Christian character showed increased brightness and strength as years passed on; and sustained and cheered by unfaltering trust and hope in God, he was prepared for the call which took him so suddenly—almost in a moment—from earth. His bereaved family deeply mourn, though not without hope, a faithful and affectionate husband and tender and loving father; and now in their great sorrow, share largely in the sympathies of this community.

FOREST GROVE, Aug. 8, 1876.

RESCUED FROM INFAMY.—Chief Lappeus received a letter some days since from Chief Ellis, of San Francisco, making inquiries concerning the whereabouts of a young girl named Lizzie Beazely. The letter stated, substantially, that a girl by that name had left San Francisco some time before; that her parents were anxious about her, and desired her to return home. Chief Ellis also requested Lappeus, if he could find the girl, to have her placed in some charitable institution where she could remain until means were forwarded to defray the expenses of sending her home. It was intimated in the letter that the girl was supposed to be an inmate of a house of prostitution in Portland. Lappeus lost no time in hunting up the erring one, and, as intimated, the girl was found in a house of notorious ill-repute, living in open shame. The girl was waited upon by a police officer and informed of what Chief Ellis had written concerning her. She expressed a perfect willingness to return to her home in San Francisco if money was furnished for that purpose. However, she firmly declined to abandon the life she was leading and go into some private family for the [illegible] but said when arrangements were effected for her to leave for San Francisco, she was willing and ready to go. Chief Lappeus wrote to Ellis, informing him that Miss B[illegible] was in Portland; also what she had consented to do. The letter was mailed several days ago, but before it reached its destination a sister of the wayward girl arrived here on the Ajax, for the purpose of taking her home. Yesterday morning the girl left the den of infamy where she had [illegible] staying and [illegible] panied her sister to a hotel, where both will remain until the departure of the Ajax for San Francisco. Lizzie Beazely is said to be only about 16 years old, and in stature and appearance is extremely childlike. Chief Lappeus wrote to Ellis, informing him that Miss Beazely was in Portland; also what she had consented to do. The letter was mailed several days ago, but before it reached its destination a sister of the wayward girl arrived here on the Ajax for the purpose of taking her home. Yesterday morning the girl left the den of infamy where she had been staying and accompanied her sister to a hotel, where both will remain until the departure of the Ajax for San Francisco. Lizzie Beazely is said to be only about 15 years old, and in stature and appearance is extremely childlike. She informs [illegible] that she was induced to come to [illegible] at the solicitation of that miserable [illegible] John Lawless, who is now under $10,-[illegible] bonds in San Francisco to await the action of the grand jury, on a charge of abducting [illegible] girls for purposes of prostitution. She says Lawless persuaded her to come here, and [illegible] the money to pay her passage on the steamer.

[illegible] TO WHOM, ETC.—In the San Francisco Post, of August 4th, the following complimentary paragraph to the business men of this city occurs: "Until the present year the bulk of the salmon put up by the Columbia river canneries was sent to this market. It was here transhipped to vessels bound to foreign ports. Several of the leading business men of Portland thought that this was a roundabout manner of exporting their goods. They considered the matter, and as a result we find that Oregon is this year making direct shipments of salmon to foreign ports. Hitherto a system of direct exportation could not be maintained, as San Francisco capital controlled the movements of the product of the fisheries. The new departure taken by the Portland merchants denotes an independence which has doubtless been brought about by commercial prosperity. Although a business rivalry naturally exists between the two States, we cannot pass such an evidence of commercial pluck without noticing it."

DISTINGUISHED MASON ARRIVED.—Hon. Albert Pike, of Arkansas, Sovereign Grand Commander of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, arrived in this city last evening, overland from San Francisco. He comes to this State in the interest of the above named order, of which he is the highest officer in the United States. Elsewhere is a call, requesting all brethren of A. & A. S. R. to meet at the lodge room, Friday evening at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of extending a fraternal welcome to this distinguished gentleman.

MILITARY ARRIVALS.—Capt. Robert Pollock, U. S. A., formerly commander of the National Guard, Co. C., 1st infantry, but now of the 21st Infantry, arrived here Tuesday evening on the steamer, bringing about 75 recruits. Capt. Pollock has been East for some time on recruiting service. These recruits were sent to Fort Vancouver, from which place they will be distributed among the several posts in the department, to fill up the depleted ranks of the companies belonging to the 21st regiment.

GERMAN LECTURER.—Friday evening the eminent German lecturer, Schünemann Potts, will deliver a lecture at Turn Halle. His theme will be "Alte and Neue Weltanschauung." Mr. Potts is a gentleman of extensive scholarship and learning, and comes with the highest encomiums of the press and public. A crowded hall may be anticipated. His lecture will be delivered in the German language.

TELFAIR TO ARRIVE.—We are in receipt of a dispatch from Astoria which states that the steamer Gussie Telfair arrived there from Shoalwater Bay in safety, and that she would leave in time to reach Portland at 5 o'clock this morning. The same telegram says that Mr. H. D. Sanborn and Mark King were left behind at Oysterville. A way up time is reported.

Matinee at New Market Theater this afternoon.

It will not be long before fires will be comfortable.

Adjourned meeting of the Common Council this evening.

Many of the sidewalks in the city, are in a wretched condition.

The steamship Ajax brought up over 740 tons of assorted cargo.

County Court was held yesterday in the new quarters for the first time.

Another defunct Celestial was hauled yesterday to his last place of repose.

So far as can be ascertained, there is not a single case of small pox in this city, and has not been for two years.

Thermometers are passed by these days with scornful glances, no one caring how exalted or depressed their condition.

The Ajax brought J. K. Gill & Co. 28 cases of school books and stationery. Their stock will be larger than ever this fall.

A contemporary thinks it is high time that the old dried evergreens put up during Centennial week be taken down. A good idea.

Four hundred and thirty bales of wheat sacks were brought up on the last steamer. Each bale contains 1,000 sacks, making a total of 430,000 sacks.

After several weeks absence from the city, Councilman Wiley has returned. He has been ruralizing up in Yamhill county and down on the coast.

Mr. P. B. Sinnott, Indian Agent at Grand Ronde Reservation, is now in the city. He reports everything connected with the agency in a prosperous condition.

County Assessor Barnard is preparing his books for the meeting of the board of equalization on the 28th inst. Persons who have neglected to hand in statements of property had better hurry up.

Hon. S. J. McCormick, of this city, is announced to deliver a lecture at the Theater Royal Victoria on the 19th inst., for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital. Following the lecture will be a grand concert.

The old wooden buildings which have so long stood at the corner of Alder and Second streets have been removed and the work of excavating has commenced. A most terrible stench emanates from that quarter.

FROM ASTORIA.

An occasional correspondent, writing from Astoria, sends the following notes:

It is said that the fish this year are larger as a general rule than last.

Warren Bros. contemplate erecting a very large fishery next season at Woody Island.

Summer tourists are arriving here daily by the O. S. N. Co.'s boats, and starting out to different resorts.

Fishermen have been paid off, and most of the fisheries suspended for the season. Times are quite lively in Astoria now.

The officers on board the O. S. N. Co.'s boats plying between Portland and Astoria are very courteous and gentlemanly and contribute toward rendering a trip between these points pleasant.

The following Portlanders are now registered at the Occidental Hotel: F. H. Lamb and family, C. W. Burrage, C. A. Ball, W. R. Dunbar, G. H. Durham, Raleigh Stott, Judge Strong, H. Nelson and others.

Circuit court for Clatsop county commenced here yesterday (7th), His Honor Judge Shattuck presiding. A number of attorneys from Portland are in attendance, among whom we note Col. W. H. Effinger, O. P. Mason, Judge Page, J. M. Gearin, C. A. Dolph, J. N. Dolph, and others. There are about 50 cases on the docket; 15 or 20 of which are criminal cases.

Sheriff Twilight, of Clatsop county, arrived here from Portland Monday, having in custody a man named Wm. Burk. Burk was arrested some months ago charged with stealing a watch in this city. As the jail here is a frail concern, he was taken to Portland and lodged in the county prison for secure keeping. Burk, it will be recollected, effected an escape from the jail along with the mail robber Milton Shepardson, and was subsequently recaptured. His case will be judicially investigated by the grand jury of this county.

AMUSEMENTS.

PROF. BALDWIN.—After a most successful tour of the valley, Professor and Clara Baldwin returned to the city last evening. They will appear for the last time in Portland this afternoon at matinee and in the evening. The performances will consist of mesmerism, table tipping, independent slate writings and other attractive and amusing features. Price of admission at matinee: Children, twenty-five cents; adults, fifty cents. In the evening the usual price will be charged. These entertainments will be very interesting and well worthy of patronage. It will be the last opportunity afforded our citizens, as the Professor and his wife will sail for San Francisco on the Ajax. An Eastern exchange in speaking of Prof. Baldwin's mesmeric tests, says: "His subjects imagined they were horses, and capered on all fours, while the audience roared with laughter. Then by a wave of his hands he made them think they were being stung by bees, and their screams and cries of agony were really heart-rending. They swam, they fought, as he willed. Finally they undressed at his command, taking off shoes, coats, vests, and were removing the balance, when, by a wave of his hand, he awoke them. The scramble for their clothes was extremely ludicrous."

Grand matinee this afternoon.

NOTICE.—Mrs. S. Lord, First National Bank building, having abundantly proven her ability to produce a new crop of hair in all stages of baldness, also to check falling of the hair and itching of the scalp, would advise those intending to avail themselves of her treatment to do so without delay, as business will soon take her from the State for some time. Preparations sent to all parts of the country.

Drop in at the saloons using Noble Whisky and you will find they are the most patronized and best paying. A word to the wise, etc. H. Fleckenstein, sole agent, 147 First street, Portland.

One of the coolest spots in town is the "Fountain," where Peter Wilhelm holds forth. He keeps the best liquors and cigars, and Weinhardt's best beer. His billiard tables are excellent, and the "Virginius" pool table continues a favorite.

CORNS AND BUNIONS.

Dr. Halpruner is now traveling with the band connected with the Italian Circus, the Doctor extracts and cures corns, bunions, ingrowing nails &c., without causing pain or lameness. Satisfaction guaranteed or no charges.

W. L. ADAMS, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. Is extraordinarily successful in treating female complaints.

Sore eyes speedily relieved. The worst form of piles cured, and the most malignant cancers eradicated root and branch without the use of the knife, or the money refunded.

OUR SALEM LETTER.

ALL ABOUT THE NEW CAPITOL BUILDING—AND A GREAT MANY OTHER THINGS.

SALEM, Aug. 9, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The near approach of the ninth biennial session of the Oregon State legislature, and the fact of its first meeting in the new State capitol, prompted your correspondent to to-day avail himself of an oft-repeated invitation to visit the new quarters and view the preparations made for the reception of that honorable body. Your readers are already acquainted with the history of the building proper, its commencement, the laying of the corner-stone by the Masonic fraternity in 1873, the subsequent appropriations made for its construction, and the promises made that the appropriation of 1874 would so far complete it as to enable the State officers to move in and allow the legislative session of 1876 to meet within its walls. Some were skeptical enough to believe the thing could not be done within the allotted time; but thanks to the energy displayed by the Board of State Capital Commissioners and the contractor, W. S. Hearn, of your city, the pledge has been redeemed, and the carpenters employed are to-day putting on the finishing touches preparatory to its occupancy. The outside of the building presents a somewhat rough and unfinished appearance highly suggestive of the necessity of another appropriation to protect the interior from the inclemency of another Oregon winter. This, however, is premising, and we must confine ourselves to the "living present."

THE STATE CAPITOL BUILDING

Is located at the head of Wood avenue, on one of the pleasantest points in the city. Ascending the temporary steps on the north side of the building—which in time will be replaced with iron or stone, probably the former—we enter the building on the first floor—the basement beneath being entirely unfinished—and on our left we find the Executive chambers, two in number, connected by massive double doors. The room is what is termed sand finished, and the walls will eventually be elaborately frescoed. This, by the way, is the condition of all the rooms, with the exception of the rooms devoted to the use of the Legislature. The Governor's private room, which opens off from those now ready, is yet unfinished. On the right of the hall is the Secretary of State's office. Like the Executive department, the two rooms are connected by double doors, while a third room to the right contains one of the massive iron vaults for the preservation of the State records. Again entering the hall, we find ourselves in something like an old fashioned "court," and turning to the right we face the Speaker's stand in the Representatives hall. This is certainly a commodious apartment which, when completed, will answer the purpose for which it is intended for many years to come. It is 75 by 100 feet in size, and 46 feet in height. The Speaker's stand will be on the west side, and in front of him and on three sides, will be the gallery. The room is uncompleted, and the Representatives will, this year, meet on the floor above in the State Library room, of which, more anon.

THE SENATE CHAMBER

Next claims our attention; to reach which we turn to the left on entering the "court" alluded to, leaving the State Treasurer's office to our right, which we enter on our return. Immediately facing the door of the Senate chamber is the President's chair on the east side of the room, the dimensions of which we learn are 75x49 feet, with a 22½ foot ceiling. This room is completed and ready for use with the exception of furnishing, which undertaking is in the hands of the Secretary of State, who will, we learn, use the same desks heretofore used in the old quarters, they having been repainted and made to look as well as possible under the circumstances. The walls are hard finished and elegantly ornamented with plaster of Paris cornices, etc. The wood work is completed and painted in the highest style of art, while the entire room is one of which the State may well feel proud. When appropriately furnished it will present a much finer appearance, but we must not expect too much at first. Thos. Huntington, of your city, had the contract for plastering, and his work to-day stands as a silent memorial of his skill in that line. Our Senators certainly are well provided for, and no longer will we hear the complaint of crowded quarters. The State Treasury department is commodious and convenient and provided with one of Hall's massive vaults, in which the "filthy lucre" will be stored. The second floor is abundantly provided with committee rooms, wash rooms and water closets. The ventilation is complete in every detail, as is also the heating apparatus. The plumbing throughout has been done by and under the supervision of Mr. J. Rawhl, of this city, and is unexceptionally a first class job. Ascending to the second floor, we are ushered into the

HALL OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Or rather the State library room, which will be used for that purpose until the room devoted to that special purpose shall be completed. It is also on the east side of the building, directly above the Senate chamber, and is arranged in much the same manner, being, however, somewhat larger, 75x69 feet in size. This is also hard finished, but not so elaborately decorated as is the Senate chamber. It will answer every purpose for some time to come, and, when devoted to the use for which it was originally intended, will make a magnificent library room. The two bodies meeting on separate floors will prove inconvenient, but as the arrangement is but temporary it can be put up with for a short time at least. None of the rooms thus far are furnished, nor will they be properly so done for some time to come, until appropriations are made for that purpose. Both halls, however, are sufficiently large to meet the present exigencies of the case, and will undoubtedly be much admired by members of both branches of the legislature, to say nothing of the more fastidious members of the "Third House." Here, as elsewhere in the building, we find every modern convenience for heating purposes, water and gas. We next enter the

SUPREME COURT ROOM

And here again find ourselves surrounded by all the appliances necessary for the comfort, elegance and ease of this august body. The furniture and fixtures here as elsewhere are but of a transitory nature, and will eventually be superseded by something more in keeping with the general character of the building. The shelving of the old library has been repainted and temporarily placed against the walls, the consultation room to the right being used in the same way, the whole being under the efficient management of A. F. Wagner, Esq., the courteous State librarian. These in time will be removed to the room especially provided for that purpose, and the court room appropriately frescoed and furnished. The view from the windows of this room is simply grand, embracing the most of the city and the verdant hills of Polk and Marion counties. The State Land Commissioner Thos. H. Cann, Esq., has apartments on this floor adapted to the use of that department. It also is sand finished and awaits the magic touch of the frescoer. This we believe, completes the list of rooms ready for use and we as a State can congratulate ourselves on their completion being in every instance commodious and convenient, and so arranged as to meet the wants of our young and growing commonwealth. Nothing now remains to be done except placing the stair railings in position, and were it found necessary the legislature could meet there on Monday next.

OTHER MATTERS.

A. B. Crossman, Esq., will be a passenger on the next steamer for San Francisco.

Secretary Chadwick has already commenced the removal of his office to the new capitol building.

We learn that Lieut. Sam W. Church, of this city, contemplates "doing" the Centennial this fall.

Base ball matters have quieted down immensely, nor will they revive until the University reopens.

The state officers are busy getting out their semi annual reports for presentation to the next legislature.

Crowds are returning from the mountains and coast. R. H. Dearborn and John C. Booth and their families returned yesterday.

"Trade dollars taken only at 90 cents" stare us in the face, suspended over every business counter in the city. Having no dollars, trade or otherwise, it don't worry us much.

Prof. I. J. Powell's resignation as a member of the faculty of the Willamette University has been accepted by the board of trustees, and his successor will be elected on Friday evening next.

Cass H. Humphrey, of the State Printing corps, has arrived and taken formal possession of the office. The force employed thus far are A. L. Stinson, foreman; W. W. Munkers, E. L. Coldwell, C. H. Humphrey and Frank Alexander. Work will probably commence on Friday next.

Considerable anxiety is felt in this city over the dispatch published in the OREGONIAN from Elko, Nevada, a few days since, announcing the death by drowning of Mrs. F. M. McPheeters, some fearing it was the wife of Rev. W. H. McPheeters, formerly pastor of the Methodist Church in this city. We sincerely trust such is not the case, however.

All of our old bachelors have gone over to Salmon river, and as a number of marriageable ladies accompany them, it is universally hoped they (the ladies) will avail themselves of the privilege of leap year and rid Salem of the croaking, shell-backed old grumblers—there being material in them for good husbands under careful training. Selah.

Prof. Baldwin was greeted with a large crowd at Reed's Opera House last evening, and his entertainment throughout gave excellent satisfaction. He has consented to remain over one night and will this evening give the usual expositions. The committee on the platform last evening consisted of Rev. H. P. Peck, Rev. Heininger, W. C. Giswold, Esq. and W. H. Watkinds, Esq., who one and all acknowledged themselves outdone.

WIDE AWAKE.

SEASIDE MUSINGS.

PENINSULA BEACH, August 1, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The next best thing to being here, is to learn of those that are here, what they do here, and how they got here, and what kind of place we got here where "Torn ocean surges, beats and booms," with its white and foaming surf; this is a consummation not only devoutly to be wished, but to be enjoyed hugely. Your correspondent constitutes the voting member of one of the four families who have taken up their tents (some of citizen Noon's best) and came to this resort two days ago. I know when my friends read this they will come and do likewise, if they have the time and a few trade dollars. The best way is to occupy a state room the night before you leave, then you shall escape much worry and possibly a headache next day. A person going for health and fun should not hesitate to do this. The O. S. N. Co.'s boats are models of cleanliness, the table and attendance far above the average, and the officers capable. I noticed in the state room that I occupied a notice offering a reward of $100 for the conviction of any person for stealing anything from the Co.'s ships. This is a very sad commentary on some of the traveling public's honesty. The trip to Astoria is rendered somewhat tedious by the quantity of freight which has to be distributed to the numerous canneries along the Columbia. The day on which our party went along the catch of salmon seemed to be very large. Numbers of laborers, consisting principally of Chinese, were employed, but the smaller establishments further up the river were run by white men. Our party arrived at Astoria after a pleasant day's sailing, refreshed by a steady breeze from the ocean. I shall not take note of Astoria in my present letter, as we shipped at once on board the tug Canby for Ilwaco, which is often spoken of as Unity. But we took Fort Stevens on our way thither, and on the wharf we noticed, among others, Gen. Howard, Capt. Wilkinson, Capt. Sladen, and, I believe, their families, all looking healthful and happy. Our visit to Fort Stevens afforded us a glance at a part of the defenses of the United States on the Columbia. I shall not go into details at present, but will furnish you an account of them hereafter.

We then struck across the heaving and rolling channel of the Columbia to Ilwaco, during which several of our party felt that they were better constituted to travel on land than to take a voyage on the "rolling deep." The Canby tug took us to a high wharf, whose landing place was easier for women and children to ascend than that big flag staff which Capt. Tom Mountain elevated in the plaza. The officers of the boat charge as much for freight from Astoria to Ilwaco (15 miles) as the O. S. N. Co. does from Portland to Astoria; for passengers they charge half as much. If passengers received accommodations and even room enough to sit down during the hour it takes to cross, the public might tolerate it; but their charges are out of proportion in excess of the return they make. I should feel sorry to criticise, but I know that the Ilwaco Transportation Co. landed us in a most uncomfortable place, when they knew good steps for that purpose were within 12 feet of them. This is ignoring the rights of travelers, exposing delicate women and young children to unnecessary danger.

It being dark, and our destination being the beach, we ignited our fires and retired for rest to the warehouse. The twenty-one persons who composed our following endeavored to be like Mark Tapley, cheerful under difficulties. The warehouse is not much over 20 feet square, and the question was how to arrange the beds so that the young ones should not get mixed. Several plans were suggested and voted down with a "larf" which brought down the house. A well known printer of your city figured extensively in the performance. After several ill-intentioned efforts to restore order and quiet among the party we fell asleep. In the morning, as the first streaks of dawn appeared, the ladies saw that they had rested well on a quantity of green sheep-skins belonging to Mr. Kahn of your city, and of course they imagined what bed-fellows they may have had. By the kindly assistance given us by Mr. Dexter, we were soon able to move our tenting outfit to the present camping ground, a magnificent prospect on the borders of the mighty Pacific. CAMPER.

Nothing like the mutton stews at Barnes', Central Market.

The Centennial is over, and our country cousins, as well as the city folks, have had an abundance of amusements. All who have paid a visit to Jos. Kohn's clothing house express themselves thoroughly satisfied with the manner in which he treated them.

FACTS WORTH READING.

Inasmuch as the subject of smallpox is an absorbing topic now in the community, it is opportune to present the premonitory symptoms of the disease, and also a few simple remedies for which much is claimed:

Smallpox generally manifests itself with chills followed by fever, about fourteen days after exposure to contagion. The fever is accompanied with pain in the back and loins, and with nausea and vomiting. The eruption begins to show itself, usually on the third day of the fever, appearing first on the face, neck and wrists, then spreading over the body. It is complete on the fifth day and the crisis is reached three days later—the 8th day of the eruption and the 11th of the disease.

A lady who has taken a great interest in gathering together recipes or remedies for the smallpox, which physicians of good standing have been willing to endorse, and which experience has proven to be of value, furnishes the following:

Steep a large handful of sarracenia purpurea in a pint of water. Drink a wine glassful of the decoction every hour at first; when favorable symptoms appear, every two or three hours. The remedy is said to have been wonderfully successful. A little cream of tartar is recommended to quench the thirst during the progress of the fever. The herb whose scientific name is given in the preceding recipe, goes under the popular names of side-saddle flower, pitcher-plant, and huntsman's cup. Dr. Frederick W. Morris, resident physician of the Halifax Visiting Dispensary, Nova Scotia, in a letter to the American Medical Times, credits the remedy with being a cure within twelve hours after the patient has taken the disease, having been successfully employed in the Nova Scotia hospitals.

When the pustules are annointed with glycerine, or sweet oil and lime water as prepared for burns and scalds, the irritation is relieved and the discoloration of the skin and the pitting of the flesh lessened.

Saltpetre was accidentally discovered to be a specific for smallpox. A piece as large as a common white bean, crushed and dissolved in a teaspoonful of cold water or brandy, is a proper dose.

Besides being a good remedy for quenching the thirst, cream of tartar is considered a good antidote to the various fever.

The following receipt is said to be an almost infallible remedy for the disease:

Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove (digitalis), one grain; sugar, half teaspoonful. Mix thoroughly; when mixed, add four ounces of water. Take a teaspoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child, small doses, according to age.

Promise and Performance.

The proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters promise nothing in behalf of this famous tonic and regulating elixir which it will not perform. No pretensions irreconcilable with common sense are made in reference to it, but evidences of the most positive nature has been accumulating for over a quarter of a century in its behalf which proves it to be a reliable preventive and curative of malarial diseases, an efficient and genial tonic and general corrective, and specially valuable in cases where the bowels, liver, stomach, or urinary organs are affected. Debility, the source from whence so many bodily evils spring, is entirely remedied by the invigorative action of the Bitters, which arrests premature decay and repairs losses of nervous and muscular power while improving the appetite and rendering digestion easy.

IT IS BUT WRETCHED POLICY to allow yourself to drift into an incurable disease, by neglecting the earliest and most tractable symptoms. By contentedly waiting for a Cold to get well of itself, many a one has so damaged the structure of his Lungs, as to put himself beyond the reach of medicines, before being conscious of danger. How much safer on the first indications of a Cold, to resort to Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, an efficacious remedy for Coughs, Asthma and all Bronchial Affections, and sure to exert a beneficial influence on the organs of the Chest.

MORE LIGHT

SALEM, Ogn August [illegible] 1876

When I penned the piece in your excellent paper of the 28th of June last in reference to information to persons desirous of coming to Oregon, I was not aware that letters from a dozen or more of the States, from persons who read the OREGONIAN there should come to me, desirous of knowing more of Oregon and her resources. In order to answer numerous letters addressed to me by those correspondents and others I desire your kind indulgence for space in the OREGONIAN for this

Chapter of Items.

HEALTH

As this is of paramount importance to all persons desirous of making their homes amongst us, correct information on this item is very important. Since the arrival here of Lewis and Clark in 1804, our people have had experience as to health. The rates of mortality are below any other State or Territory in our American Union. There are no malignant diseases here of prominent type. Ague sometimes occurs along the marshes and some of the rivers, but it gives way easily to common ague remedies. So pure is our water and so bracing and healthful our climate and air, that good health is generally the boon and blessing of all temperate careful people who have stout bodies and strong lungs. But let it not be supposed that drunken dissolute [illegible] here can enjoy good health. Nature will resent the violation of her laws here as elsewhere. This valley is not favorable to weakly, consumptive persons. The rising generation here look healthy, rosy and stout. Be it known that next to big red apples, plump wh[illegible], big pears and plums we can raise [illegible] and heartier children to the number of parents than any State in the Union can.

SURFACE.

The number of acres in this State is 60 000 000. This includes a very great variety of surface and localities. Persons can be suited as to temperature and altitude. Western Oregon includes the great Willamette valley, the Umpqua and Rogue river valleys and a long belt of country on the western slope of the Coast mountains, and running from the mouth of the Columbia in lat. 46° N., to the California line in lat. 42 N. The slopes of all our [illegible] generally afford rich, well watered and timbered lands, colder in winter but delightful in summer, and considerably rolling and uneven. We have tall mountains heavily timbered, and upon the summit of the Cascade mountains, volcanic peaks rear their heads into the region of perpetual snow. Mount Hood, 'monarch of mountains,' looks like a great white pavilion, tapering to an apex, and by measurement taken by scientific men, is 15,000 feet above the sea level. There are several other snow capped peaks on these mountains.

CLIMATE.

It is hard to make people believe at a distance that a country here between 42° and 46° N. lat., has so mild and equable a climate as we are blessed with. The influence of the gulf stream, which passes our western sea shore, and the influence of the trade winds from the south between November and April [illegible] our climate very mild. Frosts and snow prevail here but little. The average for summer is 67°, for fall 53°, for winter 39° and for spring 52°. This gives the mean temperature of about 50° Fahrenheit or only a variation of 28° between the highest and lowest temperature. The average rainfall is about 48 inches annually.

Violent thunder storms, tornadoes, whirlwinds and destruction by lightning are unknown here. I have never seen nor heard of a lightning rod in Oregon. We have no sudden and violent changes of weather here, no excessive heat. The nights are cool and pleasant for good sleeping.

SOILS

These vary here. On the river and creek bottoms there is a black moist loam, and the same on our mountains. On the hills the soil is generally of a reddish color or oxide of iron, which mineral underlies nearly all our mountain and hill lands. These soils are remarkably rich, mellow and friendly, and seem to possess the elements suited for wheat, fruit and vegetables to an unknown depth. The lands can not be exhausted, if subsoiled, well drained and properly tended.

THE SEASONS.

Properly speaking, we have but two seasons—the wet and the dry. The wet season is from October 15th to April 15th and the dry season the balance of the year, but the one blends into the other. Except the months of July and August we have showery or rainy weather more or less of the year and clear weather also. We have the climate and seasons of Asia. In our dry season the wind is from the north. So fine are our seasons that we never have a failure of crops. He that sows properly is sure to reap. The smallest crop of wheat per acre here is above the average yield of wheat in the States. Chinch bugs, Hessian fly, rust or grasshoppers are not here, nor excessive droughts.

WATER

Perhaps no other State in America is so well watered as Oregon. From all of our great water sheds—the Cascade, Blue and Coast mountains, and from the cross ranges running East and West toward the Pacific ocean, is seen innumerable fountains of pure cold water, leaping down and forming rivulets, creeks and rivers, flowing into the great Columbia—the classic Oregon—or else directly into the mighty Pacific. Water power is almost endless in quantity and variety in Western Oregon.

TIMBER

This is truly the wonder of the world. While in the States I read of the tall timber of Oregon and its huge diameters, I could not readily believe the statements. And when I came and saw, I too sent back what seemed [illegible]. Trees as straight as a cane 200 feet high and from [illegible] feet in diameter. Well the [illegible] the fir, cedar, pine [illegible] [illegible] grow abundantly for [illegible] purposes. [illegible]

MINERALS

[illegible] part of iron [illegible] lead [illegible] marl and salt abound [illegible]

LAND AND THEIR TITLES

[illegible] grants of land [illegible] All original land titles here were vested in the United States and derived from them by donation to the State in sundry ways. [illegible] land grants for educational purposes were made to Oregon besides railroad, swamp, military and [illegible] lands. There never have been any [illegible] land sales here and perhaps never will be. The State owns much land and the railroad company own a large amount [illegible] in Western Oregon [illegible] homestead [illegible] railroad company sell [illegible] lands very low and on long time—ten years at [illegible] a tenth part payable annually. The State sells on very favorable terms [illegible] private land owners sell for [illegible] down and balance on time. The prices of land are very low here, so much land [illegible]

The whole number of citizens here is 150 000 in all employment. There are so many ways of obtaining lands here that strangers need [illegible] fear of being landless. The State Board of Immigration for Oregon and the railroad land commissioner, the regular land agents and sundry public spirited men will give strangers full information of public lands and State and private lands. We have room for forty times as many persons as now follow farming or stock raising.

FISHERIES

The [illegible] fisheries on the Columbia river. The supply of salmon and other fish in our waters is endless. The quality is superior to any other fish in the world. These fisheries will this year two millions of dollars. The sales extend to New York and Europe. A ship load of these fish left the mouth of the Columbia river six days ago for Liverpool valued at $128 71[illegible]. One company employs 800 whites and Chinese in catching and putting up fish. The demand for these fish is far beyond the supply and ever will be. We invite capitalists to come and engage in this business. We have the best of timber for cooper's work and the making of vessels in which to pack fish would be a paying business. Our inland streams abound in trout and other fish.

FRUIT

Apples, pears, plums, prunes, currants, gooseberries, strawberries, raspberries, grapes and cherries grow here in rich profusion and of the very best. In fact the 'big red apples of Oregon' have become proverbial far and near. The best of fruit-dryers are here and fruit raising cannot be overdone.

Of our commerce, manufactures, education, religion, markets, towns, general products, splendid State Fairs and the fine stock, cereals, fruits, vegetables, mechanical work, floral garden products and our beautiful and [illegible] women and blooming girls, our great fields of grain, and our growing commerce and our future prospects I cannot now write. I have repeated much in this communication that has been penned by me in other papers. But thousands will read this in the OREGONIAN who may not have seen other treatises on Oregon. I am surprised that our Oregon newspapers publish so little about this State. Foreigners care but little about our local politics and little strifes here. The attention of hundreds of thousands of strangers is turned toward this State. Most of them know but little about our country, but they want to know.

DAVID NEWSOME

SADDENING REMINISCENCE.—The other day a dreamy young poet of Burlington sat down with a bundle of old letters in stained envelopes with faded addresses to write a sad requiem over the days that are dead. He began:

Through ye waken sad thoughts as I sit here alone
I will carefully lay you away
For better the shadow of years that are gone
Than the cold garish light of to day

And when he got that far he opened one of the letters for a little inspiration and read: "Sir yur bil fur drinks at this Bar is $17. So an has bin runnin 8 munths and it not pade this evenin will present the same to yure onered father fur payment. Resp. Abel Gunsling"—and then he sighed and laid away the letters and didn't feel like finishing the requiem that day.—Burlington Hawk Eye.

DISINCLINED TO MAKE TROUBLE.—This morning an impecunious tramp was unable to pay his fine, and the recorder ordered him to be locked up. The city marshal, however said the lock-up was crowded and not fit to put a prisoner in anyhow and he would have to try and make arrangements to place the fellow in the county jail. The prisoner then spoke up: "Gentlemen, I see I am intruding; don't put yourselves out to accommodate me. I'll call in again when you are not so busy." And a long legged policeman had to follow him three times around the plaza, over two fences, through a lager beer saloon and up on top of a two story chicken house to tell him to come back, and they would find a place for him in the lock up anyhow.—San Antonio Herald.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres four miles southeast of Salem on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $[illegible] per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons or colony of persons desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages on more favorable terms than they can ever expect to realize again.

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Silk Growers' Association

[illegible] YORK, Aug 9—At a meeting of the Silk Association of America yesterday, [illegible] letters received from all quarters confirm the news of the recent advance in the price of raw silk, caused by a short crop in Europe and China, and it was reported and stated that an average raise of fully [illegible] per cent in the price of raw material, which promises to be permanent, would make necessary a decided advance in the price of manufactured silks. Manufacturers of sewing silk and twist have already advanced their goods 10 per cent and a further advance of [illegible] per cent is under consideration and likely to go into effect by the end of August.

New York Greenback Men Satisfied with the Democracy.

The Times announces that the greenback Democrats of this State, under the leadership of G. Tucker and Richard Schell, repudiate the action of the council which placed Gen Cary on the ticket, and will soon hold a meeting in this city. They are satisfied with the manner in which affairs are shaping themselves in the Democratic party in relation to the currency question, and say they will soon get all they want from that party and that [illegible] is no use of affiliating with men in support of a candidate who has been a Republican. They state that Tilden was obliged to admit the resumption plank in the St. Louis platform in order to get the nomination and Tilden's letter was delayed because Hendricks refused to accept the nomination until the Democrats in the House of Representatives had committed themselves in favor of the repeal of the resumption clause. These things showed that Hendricks was stronger than Tilden, and would carry all his points on the currency question. This being so there was no good reason why greenback Democrats should support Cooper and Cary, who could not get elected, when they could get all they wanted in the event of the success of Tilden and Hendricks.
